Armadillo Scooterwear is about combining style and protection. Its simple: get all the benefits of technical performance fabrics with classic garment styles that you will always want to wear.

From funnel parkas to classic macs, technical hoodie to street gloves, all of our collection features d3o™ body armour, which provides ultimate protection should you and the tarmac ever come together.

As dedicated urban scooter riders we want to create modern garments that you feel good in and secure about.

Because we design the collection in Britain and work closely with our expert manufacturer, every garment made carries unique detailing, modern styling and performance warranties.

d30™ technology

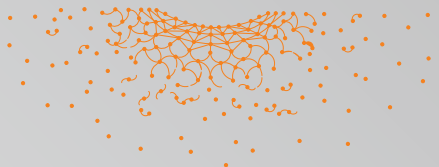

Under slow rates of movement, the d30™ CE certified (EN1621-1) pads provides maximum comfort through softness and flexibility, but when impacted at high speeds d30™ displays excellent shock absorption as the Intelligent Molecules inside lock together, spreading the force over the whole pad.

d30™ completely conforms to your body and remains almost invisible within your garment, but provides excellent shock absorption when you need it.
